Generation No. 2

2. KARL AUGUST² LEHMBERG (*JOHN GOTTFLEF*¹) was born 05 Nov 1830 in Streckenbeck, Prussia, and died 04 Feb 1915 in Auburn, Lincoln, WY. He married ERNESTINE AMELIA KRINKIE 28 Nov 1859 in Germany, daughter of CARL KRINKE (OR KRINKIE) and JOHANNA LEATHER. She was born 24 Aug 1834 in Broiston, Prussia, and died 08 Apr 1903 in Auburn, Lincoln, WY.

Notes for KARL AUGUST LEHMBERG:

Karl August Lehmborg was born Nov. 5, 1830, in the town of Strechenback, Prussia. When but a young man, he joined the Prussian Army and served as a soldier for several years. Later August married Ernestine Amelia Krinkie, who also was a native of Prussia.

This couple, accompanied by August's brother, came to America. They joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and crossed the plains with a company of Saints. While crossing the plains, August's wife gave birth to a son. He died and was buried on the plains. In 1866 they settled in Round Valley, at Morgan, Utah.

To August and his wife nine children were born, two daughters and seven sons. To their sorrow only three of these children lived to maturity. They were Harmon, Charles and Sarah, all of whom later became pioneers in Star Valley [Wyoming].

The Lehmborg's were quite well established in Round Valley, when they had the misfortune of losing their home by fire. There was also a shortage of hay in Morgan so the Lehmborg's and others decided to move to some other location.

In the spring of 1879 August and his son, Harmon, accompanied by Dave Robinson, Frank Cross, John Wilkes, Jim Sibbett, Jim's brother Sam, and Hy and Will Simmons (Will was a brother-in-law of Dave Robinson), made the long tedious trip to Star Valley.

August and his son built a one-room cabin in what later became Auburn and made their home for the summer. They cut hay with a scythe and stacked what they thought was enough to feed their horses and cattle through the coming winter. In the fall of 1879, after the hay was put up, the entire party went back to Round Valley to get their families, more supplies and livestock. All except August returned to the valley in the fall of 1879. A young man by the name pf

Anton Snyder accompanied Harmon. He trapped and helped Harmon take care of the Lehmberg cows and horses.

Deer, elk, geese, ducks, sage hens, pheasants and fish were most plentiful in the valley at this time. Trapping was excellent, with a large number of fur bearing animals being abundant both in the streams and in the canyon.

Jim Paten, Jim Francis, Ben and "Money" Welch came to Star Valley that fall to trap. They left after a successful trapping season. The Welch later moved back and settled in Auburn.

When the winter of 1879-80 was almost over, this little colony of pioneers ran out of hay. They put all of their animals together and drove them to the river bottoms where they found dry feed. The snow on the level was about four feet deep. In order to get the livestock to the river, it was necessary to shovel a trail several feet wide and two or three miles long.

During the long hard winter all the flour in the colony was used. The men drew lots to decide who should go to Montpelier, Idaho, a distance of about 50 miles, to get some more. Harmon was chosen to go. His dairy gives the following account of the trip:

"I had to go to Pelier on snowshoes and carry a sack of flour back. On my way home a storm came up and I had to stop at Snow Slide a day and a night. I had to open my sack of flour. I mixed the water with the flour and made some bread. I got a big flat rock, washed it and mixed the the flour and water together on it. Then I put the rock on the hot coals and cooked it. I had the mail, too. There were a few letters. I got back all right."

The next spring, 1880, August moved the rest of his family and belongings to Star Valley where he joined his son Harmon. He homesteaded a farm at Auburn, built a nice home and he and his wife spent most of their remaining years here.

Ernestine Amelia Lehmberg died April 8, 1903 and her husband August died Feb. 4, 1913. Both are buried in the Auburn Cemetery.

In September 1888, Harmon married Annie Marie Comper. She was born in Rockford, England. Annie Marie came to America in 1882 and with her father and family settled in Logan, Utah. In May 1888 the Compers moved to the area which later became Bedford [in Star Valley]. To this couple five children were born, four daughters and one son. Their names were Pearl Delora, Annie Susie, Myrtle Silvia, Nora Delia and Harmon Joseph.

Harmon and his young wife moved to the area later to become Fairview. There they lived for several years improving and helping to settle that part of Star Valley. It was here that their daughter, Pearl Delora, was born. She was one of the first babies born in Fairview.

Harmon spent most of his time hauling milk by team from the farms to the creameries. After he moved back to Auburn he continued hauling milk for many years. However, when trucks came into use he refused to adjust to the more modern means of transportation and quit his job.

In the year 1935 he and his wife received a call from the Church of Jesus Christ of Later-day Saints to go to Logan and work in the temple. They accepted this call and moved to Utah. Harmon died in Logan Sept. 15, 1943. His good wife carried on alone until her death April 29, 1962. They were both buried in Logan.
